I am looking forward to getting our second semester of school started! Things will get busy and the year is going to move along quickly, but it will be a great learning environment and a lot of fun!!

Math Facts

I can't stress to you all enough the importance of the students memorizing their addition and subtraction facts. It is crucial that they spend time practicing them at home. As we move into the third nine weeks, our math will continue to become more difficult, especially for those that do not know their basic facts.

Please take time to help your child at home with these facts! Your help is greatly appreciated and will help your child continue to learn and become more successful with their math skills!!
